

Each point is one independently generated development/test pair; panels a-b use 1,000 repetitions per cell. Thresholds were selected in an independent development subset.